Quick Action by Congress.

President Taft sent a message to Congress last week recommending an appropriation to strengthen the levees along the Mississippi River, which does not seem content to remain in its time honored bed. Within a few bours after this message was received a bill for this purpose appropriating $350,000 was passed and became a law. For quick action by Congress, this bill establishes a new record.

The flood situation in Western Kentucky and all along the Mississippi river is still very grave. The loss of property runs into the millions, and up to this time there is no abatement of the danger.

J. H. Burgher who has been in such a low stage of health since the first of the year, is now all the while growing weaker, and but slight hopes for his recovery are entertained.

When he vetoed the bill last year President Taft gave as his reason the fact that the tariff board had not made its report. Now, in the light of the tariff board's report, the Republicans of the House propose a wool bill calling for a reduction of 40 per cent. iu Schedule K, or just two per cent. less than the bill which the president vetoed.

The tariff board, therefore, vindicates the Democratic posttion on wool, if such vindication were necessary, The Democrats knew, long before the tariff doard was created, that the wool rates were too high, and the President knew it also, for inhis speech at Wiuona, Minn., he characterized the Payne-Aldrich wool tariff rate as indefensible.

SECRET

The secret of life from a business point of view is to spend less than you earn and deposit the difference. The average person, comfort in advanced years is secured only by living within one's income and laying by something regularly before spending, not simply depositing what is left after spending. It may be necessary to practice a little self-denial to lay by money from a moderate income, but, after all, is it self-denial when the result is a personal benefit, independence and future comfort?, Be successful and build your success on an Interest Account in this Bank.

LOW-HEADED ORCHARD TREES

Three Feet is Common Height for Apple, While With Peach and Plum it Is Much Lower.

Commercial orchards of apples and pears are nowadays headed much lower than formerly, three feet being a very common height for starting the head of these trees, while with the peach and plum the head is started even lower, eighteen to twenty inches being a common height.

The reason for this is that in certain localities, where windstorms are frequent, the low-headed trees are less likely to be broken, lose a smaller proportion of their fruit, and are less subject to injury from sun scald as the low heads of the trees serve to a certain extent as a shade for the body.

The cost of harvesting the fruit from low-headed trees is much less than that of gathering from tall trees. With the low-headed trees a considerable portion of the crop can be gathered by the picker standing upon the ground, while with high-headed trees the major part of the work must be done from ladders, which greatly extends the time required to do the picking, and consequently, increases its cost. Pruning, spraying, trimming, as well as harvesting, wili be found to be more convenient on iow than high-headed trees.

TRAP FOR LITTLE SPARROWS

More Than One Thousand Caught In Device In Use at Hawkesbury Agricultural College.

At the Hawkesbury Agricultural college in Australia the tran illustrated herewith has been found very effective in catching sparrows. During one year more than 1,000 birds were caught, sometimes at the rate of 20 or 30 a day. The birds enter at three smail holes about two inches in diameter at the bottom of the V in the center and just three inches above the wire netting floor. This floor is thinly covered under the hoies with soil on which a little food, such as bread crumbs or wheat is sprinkled. The mesh of the net is one inch. When once a few birds are inside sparrows are soon attracted and easlly caught, says the Orange Judd Farmer. The frame is about three feet square and eight feet iong, with doors

CLEAN SEED BEFORE SOWING

Value of Fanning Mill Cannot Be Over-Estimated Where Wild Oat le Practically Only Weed.

(By F. L. KENNARD, Assistant Agronomist, Idaho Experiment Station.)

Pian now to own or rent a good fanning mili, and clean and grade all seed grain before sowing next spring. In a section of the country where wild oat is practically the only weed of moment the value of a fanning mili cannot be over-estimated. Stop seeding wild oat with the seed grain and the problem will be much more easily solved.

A mill of the "gravity" type is far superior to the old form where the separating is done principally by the screens. Do not understand that the screens are not essential, for they are. What is meant is a combined form. The screens to sort and separate as to size, the blast to further separate as to specific gravity. The ideal seed grain is that which is free from foul matter and which has been graded to kernels of uniform size and weight. This can be accomplished only by the use of a mill of the type mentioned above.

in grading, adjust the screens so as to remove the largest and smallest kernels, retaining only the mediumsized ones. And you will note how surprisingly uniform they are as to size. They are not, however, uniform as to weight, and if you have had wild oat on your farm, some will be found here. Adjust the blast so as to, remove any chaff and light grains and most of the wild oat will also be removed from Clay City to the moved. The result will he seed grain, John Henry place. #### DO NOT MUCH WITH MANURE

Common, But Wasteful Practice With Strawberry Beds-Study WIII Diselpate Erroneoue Idea.

A common but very wasteful practice is that of winter mulching strawberry beds with manure, says the Fruit Beit. None of the large growers ever practice it, yet many general farmers who depend upon their strawberry bed for spring income cover the bed in late fail with horse manure, thinking to increase the crop the following year.

A study of the strawberry plant would dissipate any such idea. During the growing season, spring and summer, the plant stores in its crown the plant food from which the following year's crop of berries is pro-

Of the plant food contained in the manure spread on the bed after the growth has stopped for the year, not one atom enters the following spring's crop. In fact, the most vainable element, nitrogen, is dissipated into the air in the form of ammonia, while the potash and phosphoric acid, to be utilized must be plowed or cuitivated into the soil.
